

AMENDMENTS TO THE ABSTRACT:

Please amend the specification as follows in accordance with 37 C.F.R. § 1.121:

A method and system for implementing a browser object container is disclosed. In one exemplary embodiment, a method for implementing a browser object container comprises the steps of identifying content data for inclusion in a browser object container; defining one or more navigation options for defining how one or more recipients view the content data as provided by the browser object container; adding the content data with the one or more navigation options to the browser object container ~~wherein the content data and the one or more navigation options are embedded into a content definition~~; compressing the content definition into a compressed file; encrypting the compressed file into an encrypted file ~~for securing the content data~~; and electronically transmitting the browser object container ~~containing the compressed and encrypted file to the one or more recipients~~ wherein the one or more recipients navigate through the content data as allowed by the one or more navigation options within the browser object container.